THE SAN LUIS RESORT, SPA & CONFERENCE CENTER PROMISES AN EGGSTRAVAGANT BRUNCH AND FESTIVITIES

Enjoy the annual Easter Brunch and Poolside Easter Egg Hunt

GALVESTON, TEXAS — Head down to the Island for a delightful Easter brunch and poolside egg hunt at The San Luis Resort, Spa & Conference Center. Chef Brian Robertson, executive chef, promises a menu and selections sure to please gourmands of all statures, Sunday, April 8th from 11am-3 pm.

“We’ve given the traditional Easter brunch an update, a dash of sizzle and a glint of tradition,” said Robertson.

Robertson and his team have created a menu that treats diners to a traditional Easter feast with carved-to-order marinated leg of lamb with apple mint jelly; molasses glazed smoked bone-in-ham with grain mustard, peppered prime rib of beef with horseradish cream and béarnaise sauce.

Chef has created a sumptuous line up of entrees and accompaniments featuring chicken piccata with artichoke hearts and mushrooms, Boeuf Bourguignon, lightly blackened red fish burre blanc, organic roasted vegetables, potatoes au gratin and cranberry and almond rice pilaf. Also on the menu is a full array of soup and salad presentations that include jumbo shrimp and crab claws, a chopped salad station, seafood pasta and antipasto display, a montage of imported and domestic cheeses, fruits and shrimp bisque.

Those celebrating early in the day will find a breakfast true to chef’s high standards. Fair includes fresh made-to-order omelets, hickory smoked bacon and sausage, scrambled eggs, and miniature Belgium waffles with homemade whip cream, assorted berries and warm maple syrup. Top it all off with something sweet from the traditional line up of desserts – from key lime pie to Southern pecan pie, chocolate brioche bread pudding to Italian cream cake, chocolate Easter eggs, bunnies and traditional jelly beans.

“Easter is a wonderful time of year and we’re pulling out the stops to bring our guests and visitors a traditional Easter celebration,” Michelle Beckwith, area director of catering & special events.
